CincItalia – the Cincinnati Italian Festival

Arrosticini cooking on the grill

It seems like Spring would never get here and now it's almost summer and that means it festival time again. Now entering its ninth year, CincItalia – the Cincinnati Italian Festival, hopes to be bigger and better than ever. The United Italian Society plays a big role in bringing authentic Italian food to the festival as we will be preparing arrosticini and spiedini on our imported furnacella with grill masters Dave Sabatelli and Earl Einhaus.

Once again we will be serving lamb arrosticini as well as pork and chicken spiedini. Hungry Festival goers will be able to sample these wonderful dishes and get an Italian Salad and Antipasto salad at the UIS booth this year. We will also be selling our "I Love Italians" necklaces and spreading lots of Italian cheer throughout the weekend.

Anyone who has worked the booth at the festival will tell you it is more fun than work. It really is a fun time and many people come by to visit and see the grill in action.

We will be filling our volunteer shifts for spiedini making on May 30th at San Antonio and throughout the weekend at the festival. If you want a particular shift before it gets taken, call Dave Sabatelli at (513) 941-8405 or email dasabatelli@fuse.net.

See you all at CincItalia!
